

gorilla

Who is the burliest brute in the jungle?
Who can scare you with just one stare or a couple of thumps on the barrel of his silverback chest. Beware!

Adult gorillas can eat up to 66 pounds of plants and fruit in a day.

jaguar

A cat can move with stealth and speed when hunting prey on which to feed. But let her be a warning sign: Sadly, the jaguar is in decline.

Mother jaguars live with their cubs. Most of the time, adult jaguars live alone.

boa constrictor

This snake is the stuff of nightmares.
Females are bigger than males.
You are likely to see them hanging around in rainforest trees and on trails.

Boa constrictors
do not chew
their food. They swallow their prey
whole.
